TRAFFIC JAM — Although it may look like a traffic jam from out of the past it was only part of the 225 antique cars on display at the Old Fashioned Bargain Days antique car show on Main Street Saturday. A huge throng of shoppers and interested persons crowded the downtown area Saturday to view the festivities and look for bargains at the sidewalk sales.

Antique car show, costume contest close bargain days

Saturday morning showers failed to dim the enthusiasm for the final day of the Old Fashioned Bargain Days celebration.

The skies cleared before noon and another huge throng crowded the city's streets and sidewalks to look for bargains at a sidewalk sale or to view one of the 225 antique and classic cars on Main Street.

Judging for the best old fashioned costume also took place Saturday. Employees with the best original costumes were Judy Bennett, Soldan's, Bertha Terry, Steen's, and Kathy Browning, Murphy's. The top homemade costumes were worn by Phyllis Applegate, Craig's, Rita Petit, Craig's, and Betty Ellards, J. C. Penney Co.

Best original costumes worn by customers were Coleen Justice, New Holland, Nikki Eyre, Hillsboro, and Jared Wade, two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wade. Customers wearing the best homemade costumes were Stephany and Shannop Skinner, Kami Sue Campbell, and Mrs. Robert Dresbaugh.

Senate impeachment trial would hamper campaigning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Robert Dole says that if he has to spend October at a Senate impeachment trial of President Nixon, his Democratic opponent in November's election also should be there.

"With the possibility of an extended trial, those who are potential jurors ought to be there," the Kansas Republican said in an interview.

Democratic leaders have talked of inviting senators elected in November to watch the proceedings in case the trial runs into the new Congress.

But Sen. Robert C. Byrd thinks Dole's idea goes a little far. "One could carry that to a ridiculous conclusion," the assistant Democratic leader said. "We don't expect it to go over until next year. Between November and January, they would have ample time to catch up."

Dole, however, was seeking to deal with a problem that is facing 24 of the 100 senators. They are running for re-election this fall.

Under the present impeachment schedule, the trial would be starting in the weeks before the election, limiting Pat Tatman reported that the bad weather Friday night and Saturday morning had apparently stopped a few antique car owners from coming to the show, but that a fine response of 225 antique cars was still on hand. A block and a half of Main Street was blocked off from traffic so visitors could leisurely view the cars and talk to the owners.

Tatman said 35 first and second place trophies were presented to winners in 29 categories. Classes and winners were:

Best Antique Car closed (under 3000 lbs.) Tom Coates, Columbus, 1928 Chevrolet; George Rardain, Logan, 1928 Dodge.

Senate panel considers rules for Nixon trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee is hearing specific proposals for overhauling its impeachment trial rules against what some see as an uncertain backdrop of Senate support for President Nixon.

The committee is going into closed session to hear from nine senators today in the first of two such sessions to take testimony before drafting recommendations to be used if the House impeaches Nixon.

Meanwhile, there were estimates within the Senate that there are neither 67 sure Senate votes for conviction, nor 34 needed for acquittal.

Experienced head-counters believe that if Nixon escapes conviction it will be on a vote where his foes mustered a clear majority but fell short of the required two-thirds.

On the House side, where debate on impeachment may begin Aug. 19, Republican Leader John Rhodes of Arizona canceled a morning news conference at which he had planned to reveal how he would vote. An aide said Rhodes had become ill, and the conference was put off until later in the week.

Also, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. of the House Judiciary Committee has sent each House member a schedule that lists the times when they will be able to hear each of the 19 presidential tape recordings in the committee's possession.

The Senate Rules Committee already has decided it wants to stick mainly with the rules written for the nation's only presidential impeachment trial, that of President Andrew Johnson in 1868.

However, battles are likely in the panel and before the full Senate on the role of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who will preside, and on whether to set standards for introduction of evidence or conviction.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., in prepared testimony, urged the committee to set rules to insure the Senate can subpoena the tapes and documents of 64 White House conversations being supplied special prosecutor Leon Jaworski under last month's 8-0 Supreme Court ruling.

Other scheduled witnesses today included Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, Robert T. Stafford, R-Vt., William Hathaway, D-Maine, Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and William L. Scott, R-Va.

In his testimony, Mondale urged that all proceedings in any impeachment trial take place in public, and on radio and television, including the final debate between senators that would be in closed session under current rules.

In discussing the need to subpoena the White House tapes, which were denied the House Judiciary Committee, Mondale said "we need those tapes in order to be fair to the President and in order to be fair to the American people as we consider whether to remove a President from office."

Phone strike averted Workers leave 10 plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bell Telephone System and its unions have reached tentative agreement on a $3-billion, three-year contract, averting a nationwide telephone strike scheduled for today.

But negotiators for a separate group of International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers—IBEW—members employed by the Western Electric Co., a Bell subsidiary, rejected the tentative agreement and IBEW members struck at least 10 Western Electric plants.

The tentative agreement covers the 500,000-member Communications Workers of America, IBEW members employed directly by Bell and a group of 35 smaller independent unions.

An IBEW spokesman said 80,000 IBEW members work for Western Electric and another 65,000 work directly for Bell. Negotiators for IBEW members at Western Electric rejected the tentative settlement while negotiators for IBEW members working for Bell accepted it.

A Western Electric spokesman said IBEW members had set up pickets at 10 of the 15 Western Electric plants employing IBEW members.

He said pickets had been set up at plants in Chicago; Montgomery, Ill.; Lisle, Ill.; Omaha, Neb.; Columbus, Ohio; Shreveport, La.; Oklahoma City; Indianapolis; Kearney, N.J.; and Allentown, Pa.

He said there were no IBEW pickets at Western Electric plants in Vancouver, Wash.; Reading, Pa.; Denver; San Ramon, Calif.; and Little Rock, Ark.

Eight other Western Electric plants whose workers are represented by the Communications Workers also were unaffected, the company spokesman said.

Western Electric spokesman estimated that 56,000 to 57,000 IBEW workers were on strike.

The tentative agreement, which requires rank-and-file approval, would boost wages and benefits 3.8 per cent over the next three years.

In announcing the settlement at a news conference Sunday night, CWA President Glenn E. Watts said the contract would be submitted for ratification only after local contract negotiations are completed.

A deadline for wrapping up local issues was set for midnight, Aug. 11, after which time any of Bell's 23 operating companies across the country could be struck individually.

In addition to pay increases, the union chief said the offer provides full protection against inflation, the "largest improvement ever made" in pensions, a company-paid dental plan and more than $100 million in local money for resolving what he called inequities in job classifications.

A major stumbling block during the more than two months of negotiations had been the issue of union security and Watts said the new contract offered substantial improvement.

Specific details of the contract, including a breakdown of the proposed pay increases, were withheld pending completion of local contracts.

Telephone workers currently earn a maximum of $166.50 for operators and up to $260 weekly for craftsmen.

Ohio Bell workers here are on jobs

Local personnel of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. are all on the job, according to Bruce Galloway, commercial manager of the Washington C.H. office.

The tentative agreement by national representatives of the Communications Workers of America with the Bell System shortly before midnight averted an immediate strike by local employees.

The striking members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers are employed primarily by the Western Electric Co., which manufactures telephones and electrical equipment. Members of the union are not employed in Washington C.H., and their strike presents no immediate threat to the communications network, Galloway said.

The tentative pact includes a wage hike, pension improvements, hospitalization benefits and for the first time a dental health program. Vacation and holiday questions are also covered in the new pact.

A MAJOR question in the negotiations was a proposed quarterly review of the cost of living, including the possibility of cost of living increases following the reviews. Galloway said that he did not know how the cost of living question was settled.

All of the negotiations are tentative since the pact must be adopted by local chapters before becoming effective. Deadline for the acceptance by local personnel is Aug. 11. If local unions do not wish to sign the pact there could be localized strikes.

According to Galloway, the agreement would be retroactive to July 18, the termination date of the prior contract. The pact would become effective as of that date, or the expiration date of local contracts, which ever is later.

Although details of the tentative agreement were not immediately released, the entire package is expected to cost some $3 billion nationwide over the duration of the pact. It effects some 500,000 workers, 22,000 of whom are employed by the Ohio Bell System.

Ford still says Nixon is innocent

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he dislikes some of the things that were done by President Nixon's White House but "I still believe the President is innocent of any impeachable offense."

Ford said at a weekend news conference he could even see some justification for House censure of the President if it came to a choice between that or impeachment, although he said he believes the facts do not warrant either action.

The vice president also disclosed that he is considering a policy of limiting his comments on impeachment, but he added that doesn't mean he's backing away from his belief in the President's innocence.

"Now perhaps there comes a time when it is advisable under the circumstances for me to say, 'I have this viewpoint, I'm not going to say anymore,'" Ford told newsmen.

"But don't come to any conclusion by my lack of speaking that I've backed off," he said. "I have not."

The subject arose when Ford was asked about several newspaper columns quoting some Republican leaders as "suggesting politely that the time has come for you to shut up" on defending the President at the risk of driving off Republican voters who think the President should be impeached.

In an interview on Sunday with the New Orleans Times-Picayune, Ford said that hearing live witnesses would be the best method of gathering evidence in a Senate trial of the impeachment charges against the President.

Communion
cancelled
in protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — An order banning a newly ordained woman priest from celebrating the eucharist at an Episcopal church here was protested Sunday by cancellation of the church's rite of Holy Communion.

Instead, the rector of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church substituted a brief prayer service. The congregation applauded the decision.

"For the first time in 14 years at this church the Eucharist will not be celebrated at the 10 a.m. service," said the Rev. William A. Wendt, the rector.

Mrs. Alison Cheek, one of 11 women ordained in a disputed ceremony last Monday in Philadelphia, had been forbidden from celebrating the eucharist at the church by Episcopal Bishop William F. Creighton, the presiding bishop of Washington.

2 cons, 2 hostages killed in Texas prison gun battle

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — "They were shooting the hostages inside the shield contraption and they were firing at us through a slit. All hell broke loose."

Texas Ranger Capt. G.W. Burks gave that description of the bloody climax to a Texas State Prison escape attempt in which drug smuggler Fred Gomez Carrasco, his convict partner Rudolfo Dominguez and two handcuffed women hostages died Saturday night.

Justice of the Peace J.W. Beeler issued a preliminary ruling Sunday that Carrasco and Dominguez committed suicide after shooting their hostages, Mrs. Elizabeth Beseda, 47, handcuffed to Carrasco, and Mrs. Julia Standley, handcuffed to Dominguez.

The two women were among 12 hostages held for 11 days by Carrasco and his confederates, who pulled guns in the library of the "Walls" unit of the prison in a bid for freedom. They initially held 16 hostages, but three were let go and one escaped.

"At no time was there any thought given to the granting of any illegal freedom to any captor," said prison systems director W.J. Estelle. He described Saturday as "one of the meanest days anyone ever spent in public service."

Burks and other officers inside the prison yard said the four persons died inside a crude "Trojan Horse." Carrasco had constructed of blackboards and thick lawbooks. The shield, designed to get Carrasco from the library to an armored getaway car, collapsed as officers fired at it and tried to topple it with powerful water hoses.

In the midst of the violence, Lt. Willard Stewart of the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC) rushed out into the courtyard of the prison and cut the ropes which bound the eight other hostages, who had been forced by the convicts to surround the wooden shield.

Carrasco, Dominguez and another convict, Ignacio Cuevas, began the climactic move when they walked out of the third-floor library surrounded by hostages and headed down a steep ramp toward the armored car they had demanded.

Inside the makeshift shield were Mrs. Beseda, Mrs. Standley and two other hostages: the Rev. Joseph O'Brien and Mrs. Novella Pollard, who was handcuffed to Cuevas. Cuevas was captured unharmed. Mrs. Pollard was not hurt, but Father O'Brien was shot once in the left side of the chest.

Cuevas has been charged with capital murder.

Burks, wearing a flak jacket, said he was hit once in the chest by a bullet fired from within the shield.

"It knocked me down. I saw two other officers go down the same way. Our bullet-proof vests saved our lives," he said.

Talks enter fourth day on Cyprus

By The Associated Press

Talks on the demarcation of cease-fire lines and buffer zones on Cyprus between Greek Cypriot and Turkish forces entered a fourth day today as truce agreements remained largely inoperative.

Military officers representing Britain, Greece, Turkey and the United Nations peacekeeping force, who are conducting the talks, took their search for firm cease-fire lines to the battle zones on Sunday.

As they inspected the zones, skirmishes were reported along the northern coast near Kyrenia and along the "Green Line" separating the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot sections of Nicosia.

The U.N. role in the peace effort apparently was downgraded on Sunday. A late-night press briefing on the deliberations was given by a secretary of the British High Commission in Nicosia, instead of by U.N. spokesman Rudolf Stajduhar as usual, after a British official announced that the United Nations henceforth would be in an "observer status."

In an earlier briefing, Stajduhar had referred to the work of the officers as "the four-party talks," but when the British spokesman, Geoffrey Stephens, took over, he called it "tripartite status."

Asked to explain the change, both Stajduhar and Stephens declined comment. In New York, a spokesman for U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said he knew nothing about a downgraded U.N. presence.

Relations between Turkey and the United Nations are known to have deteriorated in the past week, after Turkish insistence that U.N. troops withdraw from Turkish-controlled areas on the Mediterranean island.

Slain hostages' husbands praise prison officials

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Relatives of the two women hostages killed during the shootout that ended a lengthy siege at the state prison here have praised the Texas Department of Corrections for its handling of the situation.

Troy Standley, an ex-FBI agent and the former husband of Julia Standley, said his family was aware of the official policy that no inmate with hostages would be allowed to leave the prison walls.

"If we did not have that (the policy), we might as well tear down all the walls of all the penal institutions in the nation," Standley said in an interview following Sunday services at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Standley was a member of the congregation and Elizabeth Beseda, the other hostage who was killed, frequently attended services at the church. Funeral services for the two were to be held at the church today.

They died Saturday night after 10 days as captives of three armed convicts who held the women and 10 other officials.

Two of the hostages who survived also said they had no criticism of officials' handling of the situation.

India said dissatisfied with Russia-supplied arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indian defense officials are reportedly dissatisfied with some of the major weapons received from Russia and turning elsewhere to buy new submarines and aircraft.

U.S. intelligence sources report the Indians are unhappy with the performance of F class diesel-powered attack submarines and some jet fighters supplied by the Soviet Union, as well as spare parts and other logistic support provided by Russia.

As a result, these sources said, the Indians have shown renewed interest in buying advanced planes and other arms from the British, who used to be one of their main suppliers.

Meanwhile, the Indians are reportedly enlarging their own weapons industry, which has supplied home-manufactured tanks and other weapons.

There is no indication that the Indians are actively considering any major arms procurement from the United States.

These developments fit in with persistent reports that India is expanding its sea and air operations in the Indian Ocean, which is receiving increased attention from the United States because of oil tanker routes passing through those waters.

India opposes big power naval presence in the Indian Ocean.

That deal was called off, not primarily because of WFL competition, but because of the economy and a shortage of sports advertising dollars, says the firm that has televised CFL play for U.S. viewers since 1972.

Marty Rosenblatt, an executive of Ralmar Sports Productions, Inc. here, said his company planned to start its 12-game CFL schedule on June 26 and end it Nov. 25 with the CFL's Grey Cup championship game.

"We had to throw in the towel about a week or so before June 26 and convert the series into a CFL highlight package," he said.

He referred to half-hour film series about this season's action. He said the series, which will run 13 weeks, will be syndicated and start appearing in the United States the first week in September.

He said the show is being sponsored by the Canadian Olympic Coin Committee, which he said hopes to sell proof coins from the Royal Canadian Mint and defray some Canadian costs for the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

Interest by American stations in CFL play was down from last year, when Rosenblatt said 93 U.S. television stations carried the games. This season, he said, only 65 were on the roster.

Even so, he said, "we felt we had a reasonable station lineup. But some clients that had committed themselves found themselves in a dollar jam" and bowed out.

"We were in a unique situation,

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARbutt

NEW YORK (AP) — We now have World Football League games on TV. Soon we'll have National Football League play. What about the Canadian Football League games scheduled to appear on the tube this summer?

This year the economy was tight and its effect "had just started reaching the (Ralmar) clients. They had just so many dollars to spend. And an American football package appeared more attractive than a Canadian football package. Suddenly, we appeared like soccer."

Ralmar Sports Productions, Inc. here, said his company planned to start its 12-game CFL schedule on June 26 and end it Nov. 25 with the CFL's Grey Cup championship game.

"We had to throw in the towel about a week or so before June 26 and convert the series into a CFL highlight package," he said.

He referred to half-hour film series about this season's action. He said the series, which will run 13 weeks, will be syndicated and start appearing in the United States the first week in September.

"Here goes the whistle, the victory whistle. It was a wonderful thrill," grinned Capt. Dennis Trone Sunday, as his Julia Belle Swain slid past the finish line about two boat lengths ahead of the Delta Queen.

"I knew we would win, Dad, I was positive," said Trone's 10-year-old daughter, Sophia, popping into the pilot house.

Trone's wife, Libby, who sat anxiously next to her husband during the race, slipped below to start up a chorus of "The Old Grey Mare," on the calliope as the boat churned by cheering thousands who lined the riverbank.

For Trone the victory was revenge for last year's race when he lost to the Delta Queen by 50 feet. The year before the Julia Belle Swain lost by default when she developed engine trouble and never left her mooring.

"Winning is twice as much fun as losing so I figure we're even with the Delta Queen now," Trone told the crowd after he was carried by cheering crew members to the ceremonies stand.

The Delta Queen, the older and larger of the two boats, began belching huge billows of black smoke as the race neared its finish. Capt. Ernest E. Wagner ordered his passengers to the front of the craft in an attempt to lift the huge sternwheel higher in the water to gain speed.

One of man's earliest and most reliable forms of transportation, the ferry boat, still draws eager customers from the coast of Alaska to the Bosphorus.

FDA blamed for delaying drug approval

CHICAGO (AP) — Americans who suffer high blood pressure are being deprived of drugs found helpful in treatment of the disease in Great Britain, according to an editorial in a leading medical magazine.

The editorial in this month's Journal of the American Medical Association blames the Food and Drug Administration for delaying approval of these drugs, even though they have been found safe and effective by the British.

The editorial was written by Dr. Edward R. Freis, a senior medical investigator at the Veterans Hospital in Washington, D.C.

The American Heart Association reports that more than 23 million Americans have high blood pressure — hypertension — and 60,000 die annually from its effects.

Freis says the British have allowed use of three new drugs for treatment of hypertension — bethanidine, debrisoquine and propranolol hydrochloride.

Applications for the approval of these drugs for treatment of hypertension were submitted "many years ago" to the FDA, he says.

But the FDA disapproved debrisoquine, and has not acted upon the other two, he said. The agency says there is lack of sufficient evidence that the drugs are effective, Freis wrote.

"The withholding of approval of useful new drugs in the cardiovascular field has been glaringly apparent for at least ten years," Freis says.

Census slated at Wilmington

WILMINGTON — Wilmington City Council has authorized a census to be taken during the second week of September.

Councilman-at-large Walter Peelle said the action would be necessary because the Clinton County Board of Elections was informed by the Ohio secretary of state's office that the city's ward system must be equalized according to population.

Peelle said the only data needed by the census takers will be how many persons are currently living in each household.

Council authorized a budget of $3,500 for the census.

Peelle suggested the city employ about 25 to 30 census takers under the direction of "one competent individual," to be paid $150 a week and another $150 at the completion of the census.

The census was originally supposed to have been completed by Oct. 1, 1971, but was delayed due to confusion over just what was supposed to be done and when.

Editor's kipnaper convicted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I didn't get a fair trial," protested William A.H. Williams after a federal court jury convicted him of extortion in the abduction of Atlanta Constitution Editor Reg Murphy.

Williams, 34, had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. But psychiatrists who testified at the week-long trial disagreed on the defendant's mental state at the time of the abduction last February.

U.S. District Court Judge William O'Kelley set Aug. 30 for sentencing. Williams, 34, could get 50 years in prison.

The husky building subcontractor stared glumly through heavy, dark-rimmed glasses as the jury read the verdict Sunday after four hours of deliberation.

Murphy, who was released after the owners of The Constitution, Cox Enterprises Inc., paid $700,000 to free him, sat with his wife among spectators in the courtroom. After the verdict he said:

"I think that proves the American jury system works well. It reinforces the earlier evidence that kidnapping and political terrorism and extortion won't work."

Storms hit East, West

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms persisted in the East and the West today but the mid-section of the nation was dry.

Greensboro, N.C., received almost 1½ inches of rain in six hours and the streets of Las Cruces, N.M., were flooded.

Much of the Pacific Coast still lay under a fog blanket. Scattered thunderstorms stretched from Texas to Colorado and along the Atlantic Coast.

FBI charges man in extortion scheme

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Michigan man has been arrested and charged with attempting to extort $2 million from Exxon Chemical Co., with offices in Deer Park, Ill., the FBI announced Sunday.

He was identified as Budimir Damjanovic, 27, of Utica, Mich., by Frederick C. Fehl, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office.

Los Angeles (AP) — Singer-songwriter Bob Dylan has signed a long-term contract with Columbia Records, the company that sold millions of his records when Dylan first became famous.

Irwin Sagelstein, CBS Records president, said contract agreement with the 33-year-old singer was reached on Saturday after two days of negotiations. Sagelstein didn't announce the terms of the contract but said it was "long term."

The breakin started it

The second anniversary of the Watergate breakin gives new life to a teasing speculation. Had the bungled "third-rate burglary" (we quote White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler) not been stymied, would the exposure of the whole nasty "Watergate" affair been set in motion?

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Once legislature was supreme

As the case just ruled upon by the Supreme Court, "The United States of America versus Richard M. Nixon," indicated, Alexis de Tocqueville knew his Americans when he observed over a century ago that in this country every political issue ends up in a lawsuit. Indeed, from time to time the Supreme Court has manifestly bitten off more than it could chew, notably in the Dred Scott decision (1857), when the Justices thought they could eliminate slavery as a constitutional and divisive political problem.

Given the Burger Court's ruling on the limitations of Mr. Nixon's rights vis-a-vis the Special Prosecutor, it might be useful to explore the historical antecedents of this most recent confrontation — and the relevance they may have to present and upcoming events, which is actually a separate question. (By this I mean that one can argue, as I often have, that the specific intentions of the Founding Fathers are not necessarily binding on decisions two centuries later. My hunch is that they would expect their descendants to be sufficiently intelligent to adjust the Constitution to the requirements of an entirely different kind of society.)

For starters, it is crystal clear that the members of the First Continental Congress, the drafters and signatories of the Declaration of Independence a year later, and the political leaders in the new states abhorred strong executive authority. As the former British provinces converted themselves into states, their constitutions — with one exception (Massachusetts, of course) — relegated the governors or presidents to a status decidedly inferior to that of the legislatures. Only John Adams' Massachusetts Constitution of 1780 provided the governor with a veto. Only in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and later New Hampshire was the chief executive popularly elected. Elsewhere he was chosen by the legislature.

The overwhelming pattern was thus one based on legislative supremacy. The Declaration of Independence was one long tirade against the abuse of executive power by King George III, and the government of the United States established under the Articles of Confederation had no executive. Interestingly enough, courts were considered, on the basis of British practice, "engines of executive oppression"; again only Massachusetts

There is no way of telling. It was the apprehension of James McCord and his jolly band that set a few reporters to unraveling a tangled skein of wrongdoing which still has hidden ends.

It is hard to see, though, how the seemingly endless ramifications of this affair could have remained hidden. There was such many-faceted bending and breaking of the law that surely some of it would have come to light—and led all but inevitably to other disclosures.

All the same, it was the Watergate breakin that put the fat in the fire. It is a thing to remember as we look back to that historic date: June 17, 1972.

protected its judges from simple legislative removal.)

This is hardly a promising background for those in search of the tradition of "executive privilege" or of plenary executive power in the field of foreign affairs. But what about the Constitution of 1787? Wasn't it designed precisely to remedy what Thomas Jefferson considered legislative despotism? Oddly enough the original proposal, introduced by Edmund Randolph but drafted by James Madison, provided for a legislative supremacists system with the "first house" elected by the people, the "second branch" elected by the first and an executive who would be ineligible for re-election, elected by both. This executive did not have an independent veto, and the members of the new national judiciary were to be chosen by the legislature.

It would be pointless to go into the elaborate process of compromise which led to the final version of the Constitution, except to note that independent executive and judicial branches were established on the Massachusetts model. This was not a "separation of powers," but a system of checks and balances. Each branch was interlocked with the two others like the Ballantine rings. There were a few delegates who wanted to augment executive power, particularly Alexander Hamilton who urged in effect an elected king reigning for life. True the President was given a veto, subject to being overruled by two-thirds of Congress, but George Washington (who presided at the Convention) understood that as President he should only employ this weapon on constitutional, not policy grounds. That is, the fact that he — and his successors down to Andrew Jackson — did not like a proposed statute did not justify a veto.

To summarize, the Framers wanted a President strong enough to do the job, but thoroughly enmeshed by the checks of the other two branches. But then we come to the question: So what? Jackson altered the usage of the veto; Lincoln ran a dictatorship from March to July, 1861 (for instance, suspending the writ of habeas corpus which was manifestly intended to be a legislative function: it's in Article I, not II, of the Constitution). In sum, the Supreme Court today has to balance the burden of history and the exigencies of life in a world more perilous than any of the Framers could have contemplated.

It would be pointless to go into the elaborate process of compromise which led to the final version of the Constitution, except to note that independent executive and judicial branches were established on the Massachusetts model. This was not a "separation of powers," but a system of checks and balances. Each branch was interlocked with the two others like

Ohio Perspective

Aviation training is now available

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Auto theft no longer is one of the admission requirements to enter Ohio's only aviation mechanics training program for high school students.

Until the mid-1960s, the only high school level courses in Ohio were taught at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute.

But now, interested law-abiding students will find more programs open to them when Cleveland's new $3.1 million facility opens this fall east of the Burke-Lakefront Airport on Lake Erie.

About 60,000 square feet of hangar and workshop space will be devoted to turning out "A&P" — airframe and power plant — mechanics, said the school's main supporter, Dr. Donald V. Heals.

Heals, the city's vocational and technical education director, came to Cleveland in 1969 from Detroit, where one of the country's first aviation high schools was built.

"We felt this was a good time to offer this kind of specialized training," Heals said. "Young people respond quickly to new ideas, and despite a brief setback due to the fuel shortage, the aviation industry is growing."

The Aviation Mechanics Journal estimated last fall that the nation's need for trained A&P personnel will jump 80 per cent in the next 10 years, Heals says. The U. S. Department of Labor reported 130,000 A&P workers in 1973.

The training program at Chillicothe was transferred to the Columbus Technical Institute, but the courses are offered only on the post-high school level. That makes the new Cleveland facility the first in the state to exclusively offer mechanics training to high school students.

Some vocational schools offer training programs in addition to their other courses.

John Cornett, of the state's division of aviation called such schooling "vital to the aviation industry."

"It's changing every day, becoming more and more technical," Cornett said. "The only way to get it before was under an apprenticeship basis."

The Cleveland facility has picked Gary Redmond, 44, former assistant professor of aviation training at Vincennes (Indiana) University for its coordinator of aviation careers.

Solons eye land deal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A controversial land sale involving the state Department of Natural Resources comes up for scrutiny today by a legislative committee.

A group of lawmakers, members of finance committees of both houses, wants to know the details of a sale of land between the department and one of its employees, William Solomon.

Solomon, curator of the state-operated Malabar Farm, sold the state a two-thirds acre parcel of land adjoining the farm for $27,678.

Solomon said he'd bought the property a year earlier for 22,500.

Department Director William Nye has defended the sale, saying Solomon only did it to hold the land for the state until the state could afford to purchase it.

Solomon did not make a profit on the sale, Nye said, explaining that the several thousand dollars difference represents the taxes, mortgage interest, closing costs, insurance and improvements on the property.

State highway crews toiling at fairground

Two crews of workmen from the Ohio Department of Transportation garage in Fayette County will be working at the Ohio State Fairgrounds this week to patch the network of roadways on the grounds.

Gene Fitzpatrick, garage superintendent, said that locally his crews will be assisting a group from the Bainbridge garage who will be widening the bridge on U.S. 35-S, just past Camp Grove Road. There will be berm work done on Ohio 753, and trash crews will be operating throughout the county.

State employees will also be cleaning the rest areas along Interstate 71.

County workmen will be resurfacing Old Charleston Road in Greene County. Drainage work will be done on Bunker Hill-Glendon Road, and a culvert on Greenfield-Sabina Road will be repaired. Spray patching is scheduled throughout the county, according to Charles Wagner, county engineer.

The city began digging a manhole at North and Market streets Monday morning, said Bill Duncan, city street superintendent. Other sewer lines throughout the city will be cleaned this week, he said. City crews will be patching streets as well.

All three groups will be mowing along the streets and roadsides during the week.

Ohio Bell operations said normal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Normal operations were expected today at Ohio Bell offices across the state in the wake of a tentative agreement between the Communications Workers of America and the Bell System.

But some 6,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers rejected a similar contract offer and struck Western Electric's sprawling plant on the east side of Columbus at 12:01 a.m. today.

Ron Auteri, vice president of Local 2020 of the IBEW described the offer as "totally unacceptable," and said the union was concerned primarily with non-money issues.

Auteri said the Western Electric strike involves about 80,000 employees across the country.

Word of the tentative agreement with telephone workers in the Bell System dispute came about two hours before about 500,000 CWA workers nationwide were scheduled to strike at midnight.

The strike would have affected about 22,000 Ohio Bell employees across the state.

Some locals reportedly jumped the gun and set up picket lines at Ohio Bell offices at Dayton and Springfield.

Those pickets disbanded after hearing of the tentative settlement.

Two killed in accident at dragstrip

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — "It was just all over the stands. The people couldn't get away," Willie Weston said. "People were crying and one lady was screaming 'leave me alone, leave me alone!'"

Weston described the scene after a supercharged car, its engine blown, fishtailed across a narrow dragstrip Sunday and hurtled into crowded bleachers while more than 15,000 spectators watched in horror. Two persons were killed, 19 injured.

Authorities said Kent Myers, 16, of nearby Wood River and Lana Reed, 19, of Festus, Mo., were dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital.

Critically injured were the car's driver, Bill Bagshaw, 30, of Long Beach, Calif., and Michael Tatkus, 23, of Quincy, Ill.

Authorities said Bagshaw's late model car, competing in pro stock eliminator dashes during finals of the American Hot Rod Association's $150,000 Gateway Nationals, went out of control midway through a quarter-mile race, jumped a guard rail and careened into its side through wire fence into bleachers lining the track.

21 traffic deaths recorded in state

By The Associated Press

At least 21 persons lost their lives in Ohio weekend traffic accidents, the highest toll of the year, except for the long July Fourth holiday weekend when 26 died.

The past weekend's toll included a mother and son killed in separate vehicles that collided on a Portsmouth street.

Police said Rose Pfau, 46, of West Portsmouth, was killed when a car driven by her son, Michael, 27, also of West Portsmouth, struck a parked car in which she was sitting.

Four of the weekend's deaths occurred in Trumbull County.

The toll included four motorcyclists and three pedestrians.

The dead:

Revolutionary styles unveiled here

"My purpose is to create a demand for change!"

Think about that for a moment. The man who says this believes he has a product so good - so necessary - so revolutionary, it will change the world; or at least the appearance of the people in it.

The man is 32-year-old Michael Schuh and he is a hairdresser. His product is hairstyles, or rather "hair-designs," and they are revolutionary. You've got to see him in action to really appreciate his master plan for change.

LAST WEDNESDAY, he appeared at Kenneth's Salon of Beauty on Gibbs Avenue, and performed. Volunteers came in the front door of Kenneth's and exited hours later, looking like completely different people.

What magic had he worked? The answer requires some brief history. Schuh had been born a farm boy in Lebanon, Ohio and had wanted to become an actor. His father had wanted him to be an undertaker and his mother had been a beautician for 40 years; thus a vocational compromise of some sort was struck. Schuh became a hairdresser like his mother when he discovered the occupation provided a vent for his creative artistic abilities and could offer him travel, which he intensely desired.

After certification in Hamilton, Ohio Schuh did travel. Europe provided him with advanced training and gave him the opportunity to teach what he had learned. One thing led to another and one place seemed to lead to another. He saw Asia, Hong Kong, Italy, France, Germany, England, Spain and went on to judge the international hairdressing competition in Brussels, Belgium.

Schuh trained for the Olympic hairdressing team by practicing 30 hours a week for eight years. It paid off. Not only did he make the team, which consisted of five members, but Schuh went on to place fifth among competitors from 27 different countries. He presently serves as a consultant for the cosmetic industry and works primarily out of the Northern Lights Shopping Center in Columbus.

An interesting thing then happened to Schuh which made all his past experience pay off.

"I had had an idea in the back of my mind for the past couple years, but it was too big to go it alone. I finally started to brush shoulders with the right kind of people who were experiencing the same thing I was. They all wanted change in the beauty industry. They were bored and tired of doing the same things over and over. The creativity was gone and some of the people in the business were so burned-out, they were thinking of getting into something else," Schuh explained.

Both Schuh and Anders are teaching the design group concepts to a class consisting of: Elaine Garringer, 23, Bogus Road; Cindy Rand, 26, of 623 S. Elm St.; Barbara Hilt, Washington C.H., and Caroline Blain, Greenfield. All four were disillusioned hairdressers Schuh's idea was to institute a thorough combination - a winning combination of accentuating a person's beauty through not only unique hairstyles, fitted explicitly to facial structure, body build and personality, but also in combination with proper make-up and clothing. Schuh feels it's assinine to buy a $100 dress to go with a $4 haircut.

Schuh explained his plan to Kenneth Anders, the salon owner on Gibbs Avenue and Larry Fugate, owner of two beauty salons in Columbus. The trio started to cook on the idea and founded "Designgroup."

Schuh was finally on his way in Ohio, in instituting what he had seen as a way of life in the beauty parlors in Paris and New York.

"Designgroup doesn't 'cut,' they communicate to show people how to tap the hidden beauty within them, that they unfortunately never seem to discover through the weekly gossip sessions at the local beauty salon which they have been patronizing for years," Schuh stated.

Schuh also commented about consumer beauty products.

"People are so gullible. Hidden beauty can be tapped, but this takes creativity, study and training. It just doesn't come in a bottle or jar or aerosol can. That's where my 'Ralph Nadering' comes in. I have brought some of my own products out on the market and they are absolutely safe when used according to directions and they will do what they claim to do. I've been burned using other products, so now I use my own," Schuh said.

He cited an instance where he used a five-minute hair coloring product on 10 people, according to directions, and five of the ten lost their hair.

"You can imagine how I felt using a product produced by one of the largest cosmetic and beauty-aid manufacturers, which caused five of my customer's hair to break off an inch from the scalp!" Schuh exclaimed.

SCHUH'S ultra-modern hair designs stem from four basic cuts: the "Mia-Farrow-Gatsby look" the "duck-tail" (which took first place in the third largest United States beauty show in Atlanta in the "quick-service, blow-dry competition") the "layer-cut" or "shag without string," as Schuh terms it and the "page boy."

"From these four basic styles, eight major hairdos can be derived and from them an easy 36 variations," Schuh explained.

Both Schuh and Anders are teaching the design group concepts to a class consisting of: Elaine Garringer, 23, Bogus Road; Cindy Rand, 26, of 623 S. Elm St.; Barbara Hilt, Washington C.H., and Caroline Blain, Greenfield. All four were disillusioned hairdressers until Design group renewed their interest with its philosophy. They attend class twice a week for three hours each session and are required to bring a person with them each session to work on.

Schuh explained his lessons are worth $250-$350 a session, but instead of monetary compensation for his time, he'd rather see the trainees attain their "technician" status and work for Designgroup by managing new stores (Kenneth's will open a sister salon on S.

Main Street in the near future) and just generally promote the Designgroup concept and philosophy.

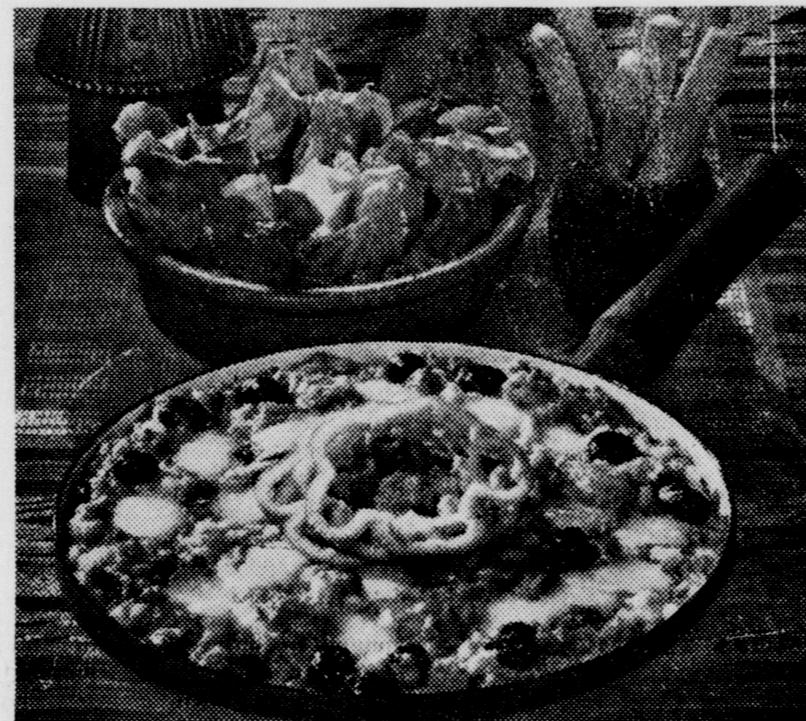

The photographs accompanying this article show two of the Designgroup hair styles. The two subjects Terry Mount, 18, of 153 Caroline Dr. and Carmen Johnson, Damon Drive, had their hair styled last Wednesday by Mike Schuh and Anders, while the four previously mentioned designgroup students stood by taking notes and helping out.

Here's a quick, easy main dish

INSPIRED BY MEXICAN COOKING--This skillet version of Tamale Pudding may be served with a green salad and bread sticks.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

As far as our cookbook sleuthing can tell, Tamale Pudding recipes began to appear about 60 years ago -- the first one in the "Pan-Pacific Cookbook" published in San Francisco in 1915. Then it was a baked dish (labeled Mexican) made from cornmeal, a couple of pounds of pork, egg, whole-kernel corn and ripe olives, and seasoned with chili powder. Now comes a quick skillet version of this dish containing only one-half pound of ground beef, onion, green pepper, tomatoes and cheese are also used, additionally favored by present-day cooks.

SKILLET TAMALES PUDDING

1 can (1 pound, 12 ounces) tomatoes
3/4 cup uncooked yellow cornmeal
1 tablespoon salad oil
2-3/4 cups chopped onion
1-3/4 cups chopped green pepper
1/2 pound ground beef
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (12 ounces) vacuum-pack whole-kernel corn
1/4 cup chopped green chilies (from a 4-ounce can), if desired
1 to 1 1-3/4 cups drained canned pitted ripe olives, halved
1 cup diced cheddar cheese

In a small mixing bowl stir together the undrained tomatoes and cornmeal, breaking up tomatoes slightly.

In a heavy 10-inch skillet heat oil; add onion and green pepper and cook gently until wilted -- about 10 minutes. Add beef, chili powder and salt. Cook over moderately low heat, breaking up meat with fork tines, until beef is crumbly and loses its red color. Stir in tomato mixture.

Cook uncovered over moderate heat for 10 minutes. Add undrained corn, green chilies (if used) and olives. Cook over low heat, stirring once or twice, for about 5 minutes. Add cheese and stir gently. If desired, garnish with green pepper rings.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Two honored for birthdays

Sunday afternoon was a time of celebrating for Scott Snyder and Jeff King. They were both honored at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe King, Jeffersonville, in celebration of their 11th birthdays. Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Snyder, also of Jeffersonville.

A trip to Springfield provided the entertainment as everyone present spent many exciting hours playing miniature golf. The guests then returned home for cake and ice cream. Those attending the party were Kirk McDonald, Mark Cook, Joey Cook, Chris Wright, Greg Warnock, and Jeff's brother, Jay.

Cook uncovered over moderate heat for 10 minutes. Add undrained corn, green chilies (if used) and olives. Cook over low heat, stirring once or twice, for about 5 minutes. Add cheese and stir gently. If desired, garnish with green pepper rings.

Officials eye impeachment's effects on U. S. economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of whether impeachment moves against President Nixon have an effect on the economy produced disagreement Sunday between a congressional leader and a pair of top administration officials.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called on Nixon to turn over the duties of his office to Vice President Gerald R. Ford temporarily.

Ferguson plans appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson plans to appeal a decision that he didn't have the authority to subpoena private papers from two Columbus banks.

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge George E. Tyack ruled against Ferguson July 16 after he ordered the banks to turn over the records of former Ohio Building Authority Director George F. Busche and Intraspace Planning Group Inc.

Busche was director of the OBA at the time of construction of 41-story State Office Tower in downtown Columbus. Intraspace Planning was interior designer for the tower.

Busche and the designing firm countersued Ferguson, claiming he was on a "fishing expedition" in his investigation over the tower's construction.

Proxmire, chairman of the congressional Joint Economic Committee, said Nixon has become preoccupied with his impeachment defense and is unable to devote sufficient time to pressing economic matters.

"No 1 and by far the most important, as an absolute prerequisite, is that President Nixon temporarily step down, under the 25th Amendment ... I think that's absolutely essential," Proxmire said on ABC's Issues and Answers.

Contrasting comments, however, came from Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," and Kenneth Rush, White House economic coordinator, who was on CBS's "Face the Nation."

Rush discounted a link between the President's political problems and the troubles of the economy.

"Our inflation is a worldwide inflation. It is caused basically by a simultaneous worldwide boom in '72 and '73, where demand far exceeded supply. This was greatly aggravated by the oil embargo ... and by the food shortages which in part were caused by very bad weather," said Rush.

Simon, questioned about the effect of impeachment on the economy, said "I don't think it has a direct effect ...."

"Obviously it affects the credibility and the confidence factor of the American people in its leaders..." Simon said.

Nixon won't speak on TV

"No," the spokesman said. "Nothing has changed."

Meanwhile, The Washington Post quoted White House sources as saying Nixon is being urged by key advisers to adopt a new impeachment defense posture in which he would acknowledge some degree of participation in the Watergate cover-up while stressing that he had no intention to break the law.

A story by reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein said the sources reported that the new tactic was proposed because the 64 tape recordings which Nixon has been ordered to turn over to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica contain information potentially damaging to the President.

White House Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren issued the denial of plans for nationally televised address by the President concerning the impeachment and said he knew of no plan for a written presidential statement either.

Vacancies filled, town meeting set
in Milledgeville

MILLEDGEVILLE — Milledgeville once again has a full council table following the appointment of two new council members Saturday.

Seated on the council were Mrs. Eldon (Waneta) Heffner and James Hiser. Mrs. Heffner had approached the council seeking a seat; Hiser was appointed by village mayor Ronnie Anderson.

A town meeting has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday night at the meeting hall. The purpose of the meeting is to allow discussion by citizens who have questions concerning the clean-up orders issued by the village.

Walter Seifried, legal counsel for the village, will be present at the meeting to explain the legal aspects of the order. Residents have been informed that unless they clear eyesores on their property by Thursday legal action will be taken against them.

Also slated for discussion at the meeting is the condition of the village ditch. It is in need of some repair, and discussion will center on the extent of repair required on the project.

borrowed money is too attractive for investors to turn down. They sell their stocks and buy bonds.

Increasingly, capital-short corporations are forced to turn to banks, and their irritation is showing. When a company raises money in the stock market it comes relatively free of strings. Stockholders in general are docile. Banks are not; they dictate terms.

Not only do they find it difficult to attract customers, but with stock sales forces a fraction of what they were a decade ago, corporate leaders find it difficult to turn around the situation.

The decay of the equity markets seems to feed on itself. If people distrust stocks today, then they must be resold. But with business so poor, most big brokers have little interest in handling any but the active accounts.

The head of Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., forecast last week that "between 100 and 200 firms will merge or go out of business if:

"... short-term interest rates don't decline substantially, if the stock market doesn't improve markedly in price and volume, and if negotiated commissions become effective on May 1, 1975."

The scramble to borrow money is glaringly apparent with small savings accounts.

Ordinarily any interest in Treasury financing comes mainly from the big individual and institutional investors. But this week's refinancing is partially denominated in units of $1,000 and at an unheard of 9 per cent.

This means savings and loan associations and savings banks, which cannot pay more than 7.9 per cent a year compounded, simply cannot compete. And that means they cannot provide home mortgages.

The impact of all this is felt in an even more personal way. Billions of dollars are held in private pension plans to fund the retirement of millions of workers. These plans rely on a healthy stock market to remain viable.

Now that the stock market has fallen into such disarray, some pension plans must reevaluate their estimates of growth. The Dow Jones Industrial Average is back where it was 10 years ago, and many of these plans hold the very stocks that make up the Dow Jones average.

In the opinion of those close to the scene, the complex problem of debt versus equity markets won't be resolved until inflationary pressures recede. Then, they say, interest rates will begin to fall, and stocks will regain some appeal.

There is no indication the law will be changed soon but Froehlich says changes are inevitable.

"It's a thing that's going to come and I'd like to be on the ground floor," he says. "There isn't anybody closer to nature than me but everything is here for a purpose — to benefit man."

When a hippo dies, its body sinks to the bottom of the water, where fish and other marine creatures feed on it until only the bones remain.

Leased prow cars falling apart

HARRISBURG (AP) — Numerous municipalities across Pennsylvania are stuck with rundown, trouble-plagued police cars which they leased from a firm that is in bankruptcy.

Upper Darby Township in Delaware County says a car delivered to its force had no brakes. "They were sending us wrecks," said Police Chief William Johnson. "The only way I could get something decent was to get on the phone and use vulgar language."

The cars were acquired from Municipal Leasing Systems, Inc., a Bethlehem company which developed the idea of leasing police cars to East Coast municipalities for a monthly rental.

With its attractive terms and smooth sales technique the company's business spread in three years to 200 municipalities in seven states. It also counts the U.S. Secret Service as a client.

Local officials hailed leasing as a worry-free, low cost alternative to expensive car buying.

"They came in with such a terrific deal, no municipality would turn it down. You'd be very stupid if you did," explains Sgt. James Hardy of the Altoona Police Department.

Now the communities are left with cars that are long past their promised replacement date. Car dealers in some areas are threatening to repossess them. The garages that service the cars are not getting paid and are refusing to do more work or exercising liens against the autos.

MLS leased about 1,000 cars to municipalities in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, New York, Kentucky, West Virginia and Florida.

How MLS, which had assets of about $1 million last year, found itself bankrupt this year is in dispute.

David A. Valente, the 32-year-old chairman of the board, puts most of the blame on the Northampton National Bank of Easton, which financed purchase of the cars and processed monthly payments from municipalities.

Cincinnati splits two with Padres

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Because of last-place San Diego, the Los Angeles Dodgers will have a mathematical and psychological edge tonight when they host second-place Cincinnati in the opener of a three-game shootout in the National League West.

"This means we have to win at least six and maybe seven of the nine games we have left against the Dodgers," Cincinnati manager George "Sparky" Anderson conceded here Sunday after Fred Kendall hit a run-scoring fly in the 14th inning to give San Diego a 1-0 victory and a split of a doubleheader.

"If we win Monday night, we won't be any better off than we would have been if we had won the second game against the Padres," added Anderson, whose second-place outfit fell 6½ games behind the Dodgers.

The Padres have won only two of their last seven games and both had to against us."

A week ago, the Reds trailed the Dodgers by only 3½ games until they lost a series finale against the Padres, 3-2. Cincinnati fell further behind during the week while Los Angeles was winning four straight against the injury-plagued San Diego team.

"The Dodgers are the strongest team in our league; they have the best balance," San Diego Manager John McNamara said Sunday after the Padres snapped a five-game losing streak.

Rusty Gerhardt, 1-0, who finished up to win his first major league decision.

The Padres' triumphed after a freak double by Nate Colbert, who opened the 14th inning with a grounder that took a bad hop off the shoulder of third baseman Darrel Chaney.

One out and two intentional walks later, Kendall drove in Colbert with a sacrifice fly to pin the loss on reliever Pedro Borbon, 7-6.

Freisleben, who had to retire after 13 innings as a precaution against arm injury, said he didn't mind not getting the victory.

"I have to give Chris a lot of credit. He taught me how to pitch," said Freisleben, a 22-year-old right-hander who was pitching for the first time to veteran catcher Chris Cannizzaro, acquired last week after sub-receiver Bob Barton broke a finger. "He made me throw more fast balls than I've ever thrown in a game."

Italian train blast causes 12 deaths

ROME (AP) — Italy's leftist-dominated trade unions called general strikes today to protest the Sunday bombing of an express train which killed 12 persons and injured 48, including two Americans.

The injured Americans were identified as Leonard Gary Palma, 21, of Aliquippa, Pa., and John Maiorano, 29, of Wilmington, Del. Neither was seriously hurt.

The leftists blamed neo-Fascists for

Carson joins vote panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nolan W. Carson, 50, a Cincinnati attorney, today was sworn in as chairman and the fifth member of the new Ohio Elections Commission.

Carson, a member of the Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission and a former state legislator, was selected for the post Friday by four members of the commission—two Republicans and two Democrats—named by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Carson said the commission could be nonpartisan in its policing of Ohio's campaign expenses laws.

He noted that when one person files an affidavit against one candidate, the law requires the commission to also investigate the expense report of his opponent.

Carson is a Republican but was elected unanimously by the commission on its second ballot.

the blast, and police refused to rule out any extremist group. They said they had few clues. Parts of an alarm clock used as a timing device and traces of TNT and plastic explosive were found in the charred and bloody wreckage of one passenger car.

The bombing, which followed a long series of terrorist acts in Italy, raised new fears that extremists were trying to throw the country into turmoil at a time of serious economic difficulty.

Trade union leaders called an eight-hour general strike throughout Bologna province and strikes of up to four hours in the rest of the country.

The bomb went off as the train, heading for Brenner on the Austrian border, passed through a tunnel between Bologna and Florence.

The unions said in a statement that the bombing "was undoubtedly part of the criminal plan being hatched by the Fascists."

In April, a time bomb hidden in a trash can exploded during an anti-Fascist rally in Brescia, north of Bologna, killing seven persons. Police blamed rightwing extremists but made no arrests.

The Sunday blast went off around 1:30 a.m. as the 17-car train sped through an 11-mile tunnel. The train carried more than 1,000 passengers—mostly Italians on their way from Rome to vacations in Austria, Switzerland and West Germany.

The blast tore the roof off the fifth car of the train and set another on fire. Passengers jumped from the cars as the train emerged from the tunnel and coasted to the San Benedetto Val di Sambro station a half-mile down the track.

By early today, only three of the dead had been positively identified, all members of a family named Russo from Merano, Italy.

WIND-BLOWN — Phyllis Applegate (right) looks calm as the wind takes her hairdo apart and her hat off. That's real dedication to the photographer! Phyllis, who is employed at Craig's, took first place in the home-made store employees outfit contest. Standing next to her is second place winner, Rita Pettit, who also works at Craig's. (Mrs. Reuben Cupp made Rita's gown.)

The outfits were to represent clothing in the mid-1800's and the contest was an annual part of the Bargain Days celebration. Not pictured was Betty Ellards, of J.C. Penney Co., who won third place.

Rotation OKd for Ohio voting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Counties which use voting machines were authorized today to implement a new system of rotation of candidates' names on a single machine to comply with an Ohio Supreme Court decision, the secretary of state said.

The procedure will be used in the 29 counties with voting machines in order to avoid the purchase of additional machines to provide an even number of units per precinct, another alternative to meet the court ruling which said voting machines which did not rotate names were unconstitutional.

"By using this unique procedure to achieve rotation, the affected counties will be able to save millions of dollars. Some types of voting machines cost more than $2,000 per machine," Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said.

"Franklin County would need to purchase more than 300 additional machines, while Cuyahoga County would need an additional 1,000 units. Lorain County estimated that an unanticipated expenditure of $500,000 would be necessary to comply with the court's order."

Ballots on voting machines will be similar to primary ballots where both Republican and Democratic slates are listed in a single booth. One of the tickets is locked by a poll worker.

To rotate the ballots, each booth will contain duplicate slates and one will be alternately locked.

Opening lead - ace of spades.

Lee Hazen and Sam Fry were playing in the Vanderbilt when this hand came up. Fry opened the bidding with a heart and West, taking advantage of the vulnerability, jumped to four spades.

West's overcall posed quite a problem for Hazen. He had good reason to think there might be a slam, and furthermore he could not blithely dismiss the possibility of a grand slam.

At the same time, though, Hazen couldn't even be certain that there was more than a game in the cards. It all

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Hooked on Hamburgers

Our children are hooked on a hamburger, French fries and milk shake diet. This is what they eat every day for lunch. They're in great health, but isn't this an unbalanced meal to have every day?

Mrs. S.V., Calif.
Dear Mrs. V.:
No one has ever satisfactorily explained the magnetic attraction that hamburgers, cheeseburgers and French fries have for youngsters, adults and even the elderly.

Dr. Lawrence Finberg of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York says the adolescent could do a lot worse than this fast food diet.

He feels that "the protein content is surprisingly good, and the fat is lower than one might have guessed. The diet also provides all the minerals that an adolescent needs, with the exception of fat-soluble vitamin A and vitamin D."

With additional diet supplements at home, such as fruits, fruit juices, green and yellow vegetables, and a vitamin supplement there is no need for you to be concerned.

Is there any truth to the idea that people who suffer with migraine are more intelligent than those who do not?

in Lordstown strike

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The president of the striking United Auto Workers Local 1112 said Sunday that he saw no hope for an early end to the walkout at General Motors Corp.'s Lordstown complex.

Marlin Ford said he had hoped that a settlement would be reached during the weekend or early this week until a deadlock in the bargaining occurred Friday night.

However, a company spokesman said he was hopeful that an early settlement could be reached "with some intensive bargaining."

It is not unusual for an adult hippo to eat as much as 150 pounds of grass during one night.

One hurt in weekend mishap

A Fayette County woman claimed injury in an auto accident on White Road Sunday, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported, along a semi mishap which did more damage to the road than anything else. Washington C.H. police officers investigated three accidents Saturday. Jo Ellyn Rowe, 21, White Road, claimed injury in an accident at 3:30 a.m. Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported. She had been the passenger in a car driven by Anthony R. Anderson, 21, of Mount Sterling.

Deputies explained the Anderson auto failed to negotiate a sharp right hand curve on White Road, three-tenths of a mile northwest of the Robinson

Road intersection and ran off the left side of the road, into a fence owned by Joseph Bryan, White Road.

The Anderson car was severely damaged and it is not known whether or not Ms. Rowe was treated.

THE TRACTOR trailer portion of a semi truck driven by Edd McCracken, 49, Springfield, fell to the ground when fifth wheel came loose at 9:45 a.m. Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported.

The mishap occurred as McCracken was pulling his truck out of Morrison Equipment Co., onto U.S. 35. Deputies estimated slight damage to the road and trailer.

An accident involving cars driven by Nettie A. Leeth, 64, of 432 Third St. and Harry O. Pollock, 30, of 904 S. Hindle St., occurred at 9:15 p.m. Saturday.

Police explained the Leeth auto struck the Pollock car while backing from a parking space on S. Fayette Street, by the municipal parking lot. Damage was minor to both vehicles.

An antique 1949 Dodge Coronet, owned by Vincent Ritter, 1013 Brook St., was slightly damaged when struck by a bicycle driven by Lorenda Byrd, 10, of 221 N. Fayette St. and owned by Rhonda Estep, 9, of 331 Grove Ave.

The mishap occurred on N. Main Street, where Ritter had parked his car in the Old Fashioned Bargain Days antique car show. Damage was reported to the left front fender.

A rear-end collision involving cars driven by Beverly Smith, 36, Leesburg, and Danny R. Horney, 16, Mount Sterling, occurred at the intersection of Washington Avenue and Elm Street at 8:55 a.m. Saturday, police reported. No one was injured.

Activity slate set by Chamber

Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce president Bruce Galloway today announced the schedule of events to be undertaken this week by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Downtown Business Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce office with chairman Ray Downing presiding. The group will be reviewing the recently-completed Old Fashioned Bargain Days promotion and planning for upcoming events.

The Chamber's board of directors will meet at 8 a.m. Wednesday in the Chamber conference room. Included on the agenda are seven committee reports covering various facets of the Chamber's program of work.

Galloway also said that tickets for Friday's Cattlefeeders-Businessmen's summer roundup may be purchased at the Chamber office through Friday afternoon.

Firemen respond to false alarm

Washington C.H. firemen responded to what turned out to be a false alarm on U.S. 62-S, near Rowe Ging Road, at 3:08 a.m. Sunday.

Under the new Ohio Revised Code which went into effect Jan. 1 of this year, a false alarm comes under the misdemeanor heading and carries with it a $1,000 fine and six months imprisonment.

Mrs. Goodson named to retardation board

Mrs. Robert Goodson, Mount Olive Road, has been appointed to serve a three-year term on the Paint Valley Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board. The appointment to the five-county board was made Monday morning by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners.

The former executive secretary of the recently merged Tuberculosis and Health Association is now serving as a program associate of the South Central Ohio Lung Association in Fayette and Pickaway counties.

Mrs. Goodson joins Dr. Robert Heiny on the board. He was recently appointed by the board of commissioners to serve a four-year term. The mental health and retardation board covers five counties with two representatives from each participating county.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS will meet jointly with the Greene County Board of Commissioners Monday afternoon in Xenia for the final hearing of the Grassy Branch ditch project. The joint meeting is required because the project spans both counties. A large number of interested land owners is expected at the meeting.

A new copying machine has been ordered by the commissioners for the Courthouse. They said that the old copier has served well for many years, but repairs have recently made it advisable to purchase a new machine.

An added benefit of the new machine is the quality of the copies produced. The commissioners hope that the machine will be able to make usable copies of a number of the legal blanks and forms used in the Courthouse, thus saving the expense of purchasing these forms.

The commissioners formally thanked a number of firms and individuals who were instrumental in the relocating of the memorial cannon from the Courthouse lawn to the grounds of the Fayette County Historical Society Museum.

They thanked Fayette County engineer Charles Wagner and county employees for lifting the huge block of concrete on which the cannon was positioned, Ted Warner for moving the cannon and concrete slab to the new site, and Basic Construction Co. for donating concrete for the new foundation.

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners will be represented by chairman J. Herbert Perrill at County Commissioners Day in South Charleston Monday. The activities will be held at the Western Branch of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center there. It is being sponsored by Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, and Perrill will be a guest of the Washington C.H. agricultural extension office.

The commissioners also said Monday that they had received 33 reports from Reginald (Chink) Davis, county dog warden.

Berlin tieups protested

MOSCOW (AP) — American and British ambassadors delivered a formal note to the Soviet Foreign Embassy today protesting interference with access to Berlin.

Spokesmen for the embassies refused to elaborate, but according to U.S. officials in Washington the note said the interference with travel is in direct violation of the 1971 FourPower Agreement on Berlin.

France, the third Western ally, was expected to join the protest.

Washington officials said there were reports this morning that one or two buses bound for the city had been impeded. Earlier, traffic appeared to be moving slowly.

U. S. energy subject of Denver meet

DENVER (AP) — Here in the energy heartland of the Rocky Mountains begins the initial step for Project Independence — the nation's quest for energy self-reliance by the 1980s.

The Federal Energy Administration (FEA) Tuesday opens a nationwide series of public meetings here to discuss the project.

FEA chief John C. Sawhill will open the meeting here. Other scheduled speakers at the sessions, which run through Friday, include Michael McCloskey, executive director of the Sierra Club, a conservation group; Govs. John Vanderhoof of Colorado and Stan Hathaway of Wyoming, and representatives of major oil companies.

The meetings will move next to New York, then to Boston, Seattle, Chicago, Kansas City, Houston, Atlanta, Philadelphia and San Francisco to glean public reaction and comment on the program, a spokesman said.

East Germany on establishing ties broke off last week on the Berlin issue. The East Germans, supported by the Soviets, had been stopping traffic to an environmental agency opened by West Germany in the divided city.

The East Germans claimed the opening violated the 1971 agreement. The State Department countered that the Western powers "will be looking to the Soviet Union to live up to its responsibilities" of permitting free traffic.
